Drinks promotions apply to live games being screened at The Lord Raglan from the moment each of the matches kicks off, until the moment the first try is scored by either team during the first half and the second half of the match. Once the first try is scored in the first half of any match, all drinks prices revert to full price until the moment the second half begins. Promotional prices apply in the second half until the first try is scored when prices revert to full price. Fair usage policy applies. Subject to availability and promotional prices are applied at the discretion of the manager. May be withdrawn at any time. In the event of extra time or injury time the promotion does not apply.
